Wrestler George Hackenschmidt
One of Most Interesting Athletes in World, Being Able to Speak Seven Languages and Talk About Poetry, Philosophy and Literature.

Copyright, 1911, by The Press Publishing Co. (The New York World).

GEORGE HACKENSCHMIDT, the wrestler, is one of the most interesting professional athletes in the world. Unlike most of the men in his line of business he is very well educated and can talk intelligently on any subject. Hack speaks seven languages and has a working knowledge of a few more. While he takes a great interest in wrestling, of course, he seldom has anything to say about his performances on the mat. He likes better to talk about poetry and philosophy and literature. His father is an ancient history. Just before coming to America for the twenty-week engagement he is filling now he spent six months traveling through Europe and Palestine. At one time Hackenschmidt seriously contemplated taking up preaching instead of wrestling, so he developed a peculiar interest in the Holy Land. Also, as a mechanical engineer, graduate of a great Russian engineering school, he found it worth while to visit the ancient ruins along the African coast and study the architecture of cities so old that even their names are forgotten. We were talking over his experiences a few days ago.

"At Baltimore," said Hackenschmidt, "I climbed up on the ancient wall, the greatest ruin in all the world. Some of the stones were as large as ordinary buildings, yet they had been brought from a distance and raised to a great height. Such facts would be regarded as impossible even today, with all of our machinery, and no engineer will ever be able to learn how the work was done. On top of the wall I stood and looked over the ruins, and I seemed to see the city just as it looked thousands of years ago. It was wonderful. It was just as if I had lived there, and remembered it all. Along the coast were wonderful ruined cities, with miles of pillars leading down right into the sea, and remains of immense domes, all deserted. Through the Mohammedan country I went alone except for a guide and half a dozen native guards. I kept away from the cities and traveled through the widest parts of the land. There were places where I could see the fanatical people glaring at me with the most intense hatred because I was an unbeliever, and there was always the risk of being killed, but I enjoyed it. All through Palestine I searched out the historical places. That was wonderful too. I have been traveling when I could find time, for years. I still have China and Japan to explore. I think I shall visit them next, and India. It is all very easy. I live well and sensibly wherever I go, without foolish waste, so after my last trip I found the city just as it was six months had been less than the income from my capital. I can travel the rest of my life, if I wish, and I don't need to waste any more. I have all the money I care for. Before long, I think, I shall stop. But first I wish to wrestle and defeat Gosh. After that I shall just train a little, keep in good health. It would be terrible to find myself growing fat."

LEACHIE CROSS says that he has "come back," and that from now on he is going to do some of the greatest fighting ever seen around this town.

"I know I had a slump for a while," said Leachie, "a couple of days ago. It was my own fault. Now I am back in strict training again. I put the brakes on. Pretty soon I'll show what I can do, and then if Packey McFarland wants another chance with me I'll give it to him. I don't see where Tommy Murphy and those fellows come in to talk about fighting Wolcott and getting that championship and not think anything about what a chance I got. I'll show them."

MONTIE ATTILL will show what he can do to-night when he meets Phil McGovern at the Vanderbilt A. C. in Brooklyn. In California Montie is regarded as a very clever bantam-weight and is a pretty good second edition of Abe. If Able really strikes the side one of these days, Montie, who is a younger brother, can take his place and keep the family name before the public.

There were one or two more of the famous Attell brothers who were big hits in the ring. Out in California they still tell a story about Caesar Attell, who had ambition but lacked the fighting qualities of Abe and Montie. Caesar trained under Abe's watchful eye until he was a fairly clever boxer. Then he was sent along the line to fight. In the first engagement Caesar did very well until the other fellow managed to hit him an awful sock on the nose. Caesar fell flat and rolled his head around to get a look at Abe.

"Get up," yelled Abe. "You ain't hurt."

"No, and I ain't going to get hurt," yelled Caesar. "I got enough out of this to buy me a peanut stand without it any more wallop."

Caesar didn't get up.

ATHLETIC FIGURE

Oldest Club in America Now
Planning to Restore Track and Field Games.

THE New West Side A. C. is going in for athletics again, and they say that it will not be long before they are again in the front ranks. They are beginning to turn at the old clubhouse and there's something doing up there every minute. A big bunch of youngsters are getting ready to compete in the next championships.

The New West Side A. C. has always encouraged boxing as well as track and field athletics, and there are a number of the old time champions who take delight in going up to the clubhouse every day to watch the youngsters. Many of them put on the gloves and teach the boys the finer points of the game. Eventually there will be some new good men who will be able to uphold the honors that were won by the other members of the organization.

Even Herman Oberbushing, who served ten years as president of the New West Siders, gives some of his time to coaching the new members. "Obe" is trying to "come back." He's official handicapper of the Metropolitan district of the A. U. U. bow, but he still has the "bug" and he still can go some with the gloves.

Maupome will play in Doyle's Billiard Academy against the New York team, which is composed of such hard men to beat as Garfunkle, Mannes, Croil and Blumenthal, and the dates he will appear are Feb. 9, 10 and 11.

Charley White
Under Knife in Albany Hospital

ALBANY, Jan. 30.—Charley White, Sergeant-at-Arms of the Democratic State Committee, the warm personal and political friend of Charles F. Murphy and incidentally recognized as the greatest prize fight referee this country has known in thirty years, is seriously ill at St. Peter's Hospital in this city, where he was operated on to-day for gall stones.

Charley White, the sporting man, has officiated at nearly every big prize fight during the past quarter of a century. Charley White, the politician, has been a familiar figure at State and National Democratic gatherings for a similar period.

Joe Coster, the Brooklyn featherweight, will not be able to meet Tommy O'Toole in the big battle carnival at Jack O'Brien's American A. C. of Philadelphia on Feb. 8. Joe was operated on for appendicitis in the Brooklyn Hospital Saturday night. Frankie Burns, the Jersey City bantamweight, has been secured to fight some good bantam instead.

Eamund Lamy
Suspended for Rest of Season

MONTREAL, Quebec, Jan. 30.—Don't be surprised now if you hear of Edmund Lamy, champion amateur outdoor skater of the world, entering the professional ranks. He has been suspended for the rest of the season by the International Skating Union of America, and as he is liable to chafe under his inability to skate almost-pure amateur races it is likely that he will join the "pro" ranks, as he has threatened to do many times.

Lamy got in bad because he refused to skate over the half-mile final at the international outdoor championships held here under the auspices of the Canadian Amateur Skating Association Saturday last. It had been agreed to have a time limit, and as Lamy, who won the race, didn't do as stipulated, the referee ordered it re-skated, which Lamy refused to do.

Abe Attell and Pal Moore

They Have Been Matched by Armory A. A. of Boston for Battle on Feb. 7.

BY JOHN POLLOCK.

THE ATTELL and Pal Moore, the sturdy lightweight of Philadelphia, are going to fight again. This time they will battle in Boston, Mich Murray, manager and matchmaker of the Armory A. A. of that city, having signed them up to meet in a twelve-round bout at a show of the club on Tuesday evening, Feb. 7. This will be the second time they have fought, Attell having outpointed Pal in a ten-round bout at the Fairmont A. C. a few months ago. Moore will get into shape at Allentown, N. J., while Attell will do his work at one of the local boxing clubs.

Carl Morris, the heavyweight of Oklahoma, has a new manager. He is the famous "Big Boy" Morris, the new manager is J. B. Uter, a wealthy oil man and sportsman of Tulsa, Okla. Uter paid $25,000 to the Morris family, the famous manager of Morris, for the contract which Morris will fight the new manager in a six-round bout at Allentown, N. J., to-morrow night. As Attell is fighting in his last form now he should do well in this fight.

A battle for the featherweight championship of England will take place at the National Sporting Club of London to-morrow night. The fight will be between Billy Watson, a Scottish fighter, and a local fighter, who will be a great admirer of Watson. The fight will be a six-round bout, and a diamond belt, valued at $2,000, will be on the line.

BOXING STAGS TO-NIGHT.

At the Olympic A. C. of Harlem Harry Hill, former amateur bantam champion, and Artie McGovern will meet in the main bout of ten rounds.

At Vanderbilt A. C., Clermont Avenue, Brooklyn, Monte Attell will clash with Phil McGovern in a ten-round bout.

BILLIARDS HELPS
TO MAKE HITTERS
OF BALL PLAYERS

Good Eyes Essential to Become Expert at Either the Bat or With the Cue.

BY BOZEMAN BULGER.

THAT practically every great hitter in baseball has been an expert pool or billiard player is a rather interesting fact that came to light last night when Jack Doyle was trying to get Hal Chase and John McGraw to play a three-cushion billiard match before the teams went South for spring practice.

Chase and McGraw are both experts with the cue, and it was while they were being discussed Pop Anson called attention to the fact that all of the great hitters were good with the ivories. Anson is a greater expert than either McGraw or Chase at billiards, and it is also true that he was probably the heaviest hitter that baseball has ever had.

Whether this aptitude for billiards is due to the ball player's good eye at the bat or whether his good eye at the bat is due to billiards, is an open question. The records seem to bear out the former. All of them became good billiard or pool players after having made a reputation in baseball. The same keenness of sight is required in both.

"There is no doubt," explained Anson, "but that good eyes are required to become expert at either baseball or billiards, and when I was manager of the old Colts I always encouraged my players to try and become pool or billiard players, so as to develop their eyesight. I know it helped me and I believe it helps others. A man must have good eyesight to be a good hitter, and if he has good sight it is comparatively easy for him to become expert with the ivories."

Hitters Are Brilliant Players.

The idea struck the crowd as being so novel that the records were brought in and they show that with the possible exception of Willie Keeler and Hans Wagner all of the hitters have been billiard players. Johnny Kling of the Cubs was at one time champion pool player as well as a crack batter with the big club.

Hal Chase has been a crack billiard player as well as a crack batter with the big club. McGraw had a hitting average of more than .340 for seven years, and he is now considered one of the best amateur billiard players in the country. Sherwood Magee is very handy with the ivories and so is Frank Chance of Chicago.

NEW YORK SEVEN
IN GAME AGAINST
CANADA'S BEST

Mercury Footers Likely to Be
Beaten by Speedy Toronto
University Team.

The biggest hockey game of the season will be played to-night at the St. Nicholas Rink, when the Toronto University seven, considered the mightiest in the Dominion of Canada, will meet the New York Athletic Club's fast team. The Toronto team are regarded the best developed in Canada in years, and they don't put a substitute seven on the ice they should defeat the Mercury Footers. However, the latter have sprung many surprises in their history and even without the services of Capt. Castleman, who is still out of the game because of injuries, they may win, as they have shown wonderful improvement since the season began.

The reason why it is thought that the local players are in for a beating is because St. Michael's, who of course, easily whipped them, which team was picked for Toronto. The Toronto also recently defeated McGill University, who walloped the Crescent A. C. of this city, leaders in the Amateur Hockey League.

KANSAS CYCLONE HERE
TO MEET WEST SIDER.

"Tom" O'Rourke, of the National Sporting Club, evidently realizes that new faces are needed in bouts at the local clubs. O'Rourke started in the right direction when he imported "Diaper" Stanley to meet "Frankie" Burns, and now he has brought a new man out of the West to entertain the club members.

The newcomer is "Phil" Knight of Kansas City. He is a short and sturdy built lightweight of the rushing type, similar to "Bartley" Hurley and "Cy" Smith.

O'Rourke selected "Johnny" O'Garra to meet Knight. They will clash on Thursday night at the National Sporting Club.
